He said that the morale of the unit was rather poor and stated that even politically reliable soldiers were dissatisfied.

- 4. Since 1952, the former monastery on Krizovnicka ul.quartered soldiers of an midentified branch of service.
- 5. The former numbers at Hradcanske namesti in Fraha IV quartered a guard rait which, source thought from the small size of the installation, probably had the strength of a company. The Saint Kajetan momestery on Nerudova ulaberide the old Thun palace was allegedly also occupied by a guard unit. These units performed guard duty at the castle. The guard room was on the first court of the castle to the left of the Matthias gate.
- 6. A brick building which quartered SS during the war and was located across from the new railroad station in Praha XVI was occupied by RS. A sentry wearing green service collar and doghead insignia was posted behind the door in the building. The building which was about 5 stories had numerous antennas on its roof. Two or 3 2-story buildings south of this building were behind a wall which was 3 meter high.
- 7. The former numbery on the west side of the Husova street was occupied by uniformed StB personnel in Fraha VI. Twelve large garages were under construction in the garden of the installation. They could be seen from Kinsky Park. Source noticed civilians and soldiers wering red service color.
- 8. Galleries were constructed in the rocks below the church in Frank-Hlubocepy during the war. The work was resumed in the fall of 1952. Source heard that the church would be razed in 1953.
